ABOUT

The bio. (Mostly true.)

Scott Hopkins is a neurotic, ADD-fueled comedian with a knack for turning personal chaos into hilarious stories. A father, prolific stepfather, and full-time over-thinker, Scott launched his stand-up career in 2023 during a textbook midlife crisis — because, as he puts it, "I couldn't afford a convertible or a younger girlfriend, so I bought a mic."

Bouncing between the Sacramento and Nevada County comedy scenes, Scott blends anecdotal, observational, and storytelling styles into a set that feels like therapy — if your therapist overshared and had worse boundaries.

A self-proclaimed therapy connoisseur, Scott mines his sessions for material and his family life for punchlines, delivering laughs that are both relatable and just slightly concerning. He's performed at shows throughout Northern California where audiences have laughed, nodded in uncomfortable agreement, and occasionally asked if he's okay.
